CHAI

CONCERN FOR HELPING ANIMALS IN ISRAEL

Since 1984 . . .

- Participated in drafting Israel's Animal Protection Law.
- Provided funds and veterinary supplies to help start shelters in areas where there were none and to assist existing shelters.
- Imported the first animal ambulance and the first mobile spay/neuter clinic in the Middle East.
- Spearheaded educational projects and conferences with the Ministry of Education to raise public awareness of animal issues, including a program for Arab and Jewish children.
- Co-sponsored professional training for municipal and shelter veterinarians, together with the Ministries of Agriculture, Health, and the Environment.
- Successfully campaigned to end or prevent specific cruelties, including the mass strychnine poisonings, and the Army's practice of blowing up dogs strapped with bombs and directed at targets.

Humane Education

CHAI is creating an extensive humane education curriculum for secular and religious schools. We also educated adults and children everywhere our mobile clinic traveled.

CHAI is raising funds to build an education center combined with a sanctuary for abused horses.

Our Mobile Spay/Neuter Clinic First in the Middle East

Our mobile clinic traveled throughout Israel, offering low-cost spaying and neutering as well as education in responsible animal care, earning a reputation for excellence in veterinary care and customer service. Our clinic also played an important role in rescuing animals abandoned during the evacuation of the settlements in Gaza and the West Bank, and in the North during the war with Lebanon.

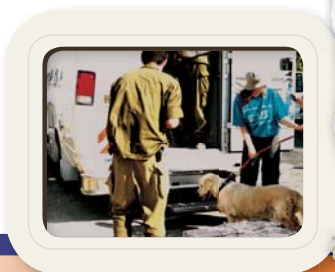

■ CHAI was there, saving starving horses: Tikvah, Shai, and Saturday.

Protecting Horses

CHAI successfully campaigned to ban horse-drawn carts from Tel Aviv streets and will continue to press for a nationwide ban. These animals are overworked, abused, typically receive no veterinary care, and are often abandoned. CHAI also rescued and rehabilitated horses and campaigns against legalizing gambling on horse racing, because of the cruelties inherent in this industry based on greed.
